FRONTIERS IN GLOBALIZATION

1996-1997
Luncheon Lecture Series

Lynn University
Boca Raton, Florida

LYNN UNIVERSITY

EDUCATING FUTURE WORLD LEADERS

Lynn University is committed to providing a global perspective in preparing the world's future leaders. Even as our world compresses due partially to rapidly expanding technologies and vast improvements in international travel and communication - the need for a global perspective in all facets of business and management is essential if today's university graduates are to successfully respond to the many challenges of our complex and constantly changing new world.

As an institution that has been committed to global education, Lynn University has established mutually beneficial relationships with institutions such as the University of Stockholm in Sweden, Fuji Phoenix College in Japan and École Condé in France. American College Dublin, Lynn's Ireland campus, lends another dimension to the international perspective so necessary for successful higher education endeavors in the coming new century.

Located on prestigious Merrion Square in Dublin, the American College Dublin offers the Bachelor of Science and the Bachelor of Arts in several concentrations. The Study Abroad Program allows students the unique opportunity to learn first hand about the culture of Ireland while earning college credits and the opportunity to visit exciting places in Great Britain and on the Continent.

MAURICE HAYES, LL.M, BA
CHAIRMAN
IRELAND FUNDS
ADVISORY COUNCIL

OCTOBER 8, 1996

Dr. Maurice Hayes of Downpatrick, County Down, is one of the most renowned gentlemen in Ireland. He has held prominent positions in many prestigious organizations. He currently serves as Chairman of the Ireland Funds Advisory Council. The Ireland Funds support projects, both North and South, that advance the causes of peace, culture and charity and are one of the largest private sector foundations dedicated to helping the people of Ireland help themselves. Dr. Hayes is also the Chairman of Mater Hospital Trust; Director of Independent Newspapers plc and Fitzwilton plc as well as a writer and broadcaster.

A former Northern Ireland Ombudsman, he served most recently as Northern Ireland Local Government Boundary Commissioner; Permanent Secretary in the Department of Health and Social Services; Head of Personnel, Northern Ireland Civil Service; and a Member of the Standing Advisory Committee for Human Rights.

Dr. Hayes holds several honorary degrees and earned his bachelor's in English Literature from Queen's University Belfast. A prolific writer his publications include "Sweet Killough, Let go your Anchor" and "Minority Verdict." He is also a political columnist for the Irish Independent and Belfast Telegraph and contributes to several periodicals.

Lynn University is especially appreciative of the GEO. S. DIVELY FOUNDATION for their sponsorship of the George S. Dively Visiting Professorship and the opportunity it affords to have Dr. Hayes as our Dively Visiting Professor.

COKIE ROBERTS
ABC NEWS SPECIAL

---

JANUARY 29, 1997

Cokie Roberts is a correspondent for ABC News covering politics, Congress, and public policy. She is a regular member of the weekly roundtable discussion on This Week with David Brinkley and often serves as a substitute anchor on Nightline.

In addition to her work for ABC, Ms. Roberts serves as a news analyst for National Public Radio, where she was the Congressional correspondent for more than ten years. During that time, she won numerous awards, including the highest award in public radio, the Edward R. Murrow Award. She was also the first broadcast journalist to win the highly prestigious Everett McKinley Dirksen Award for coverage of Congress. In 1991, Ms. Roberts was named one of Glamour magazine's Ten Outstanding Women of 1991, M magazine named her a Powerbroker of 1991, and the National Mother's Day Committee honored her as Outstanding Mother of the Year. She also has been named one of Esquire magazine's Fifty Women We Love and has been featured in several national magazines.

She and her husband write a weekly column syndicated by United Media in major newspapers around the country. Her Op-Ed columns have appeared in the The New York Times Magazine and The Atlantic.

A 1964 graduate in political science from Wellesley College, Ms. Roberts received a 1985 Distinguished Alumnae Achievement Award. She also has been awarded honorary degrees from Amherst College, Boston College, Columbia College, Gonzaga University, Loyola University and Manhattanville College.

AMBASSADOR
ALEXANDER F. WATSON
VICE PRESIDENT AND
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
THE NATURE CONSERVANCY
LATIN AMERICA AND CARIBBEAN DIVISION

FEBRUARY 25, 1997

Alexander F. Watson joined The Nature Conservancy in April 1996. The Nature Conservancy preserves plants, animals and natural communities that represent the diversity of life on Earth by protecting the lands and waters they need to survive. Previously, he was a career foreign service officer for over 30 years, serving in his last assignment as Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs from 1993-1996.

Immediately prior to this, Ambassador Watson served as United States Deputy Permanent Representative to the United Nations with the rank of Ambassador from 1989 until 1993.

He was Ambassador to Peru from 1986 to 1989; Deputy Chief of Mission in Brasilia, Brazil (1984-1986); Bogota, Colombia (1981-1984); and La Paz, Bolivia (1979-1981).

Early assignments were in Santo Domingo and Madrid, followed by service in the State Department as an intelligence analyst. From 1969 to 1973, Ambassador Watson served in Brasilia and in Salvador da Bahia, Brazil.

He later returned to the State Department as Brazil desk officer and then in the Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs as Special Assistant for Legislative and Public Affairs and, subsequently, Director of the Office of Development Finance. He is currently a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the board of the Inter-American Foundation.

Ambassador Watson is a graduate of Harvard College and the University of Wisconsin. He speaks Spanish and Portuguese.
